

New York Times Article Search - Phase 02

Front-End Team

- Begin creating basic click events. Register the submit button
- Create working transfers of data between the text-boxes and the backend.
- Experiment with creating content regions for where the article will go.

Back-End Team

- Create the AJAX call needed to retrieve data then console.log all of the relevant fields.
- Incorporate various “optional parameters” (hard code these in initially).
- Take note of various “bugs” that appear with certain searches.

All-Together

- Display the HTML content!!
